About Your Loan Agent...

Monica Jones

As a Bay Area native, Monica graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Finance from the School of Business at California State University of Hayward.

As a Certified Mortgage Planner, Monica Jones' role is very different from a traditional loan officer. After receiving her Certified Mortgage Planner certificate, Monica has demonstrated the knowledge and expertise regarding the tax and financial planning implications of various mortgage and real estate investment strategies.

"As a Certified Mortgage Planner, my role is to help my clients successfully manage their home equity to increase liquidity, safety, rate of return and tax deductions.

I believe it is my responsibility to help my clients integrate the mortgage they select into their overall long and short term financial and investment plan to help minimize taxes, improve cash flow and minimize interest expense."

Although widely known for her industry knowledge, Monica has also earned a strong reputation for providing honest and professional service to every client she works with. Monica and her team are dedicated in delivering superior mortgage advice and unbeatable service. Monica's goal is to take such care of each client that she and her team earn loyal business and referrals to family, friends, co-workers and neighbors. As proof, Monica is proud to say that her client base is made exclusively from personal referrals.

"You only think about home financing a few times during your life.

My team and I think about it every single day.

It's your home and your future.

It's our profession and our passion.

We're ready to work for your best interest"
